| ORGANIZATION NAME | PROJECT TITLE | LOCATION | GRANT AMOUNTS ($) | PROJECT SUMMARY |
|--|---|---------------------------|---------------------------|--|
| Actions interculturelles de développement et d'éducation (AIDE) | United against racism and discrimination | Quebec | $45,000 | AIDE is offering 20+ activities from May 2022 to July 2023 to reach participants at all social levels from predominantly Black, Muslim, and Indigenous communities. Activities explore racism, discrimination, current policies, the need for change, solutions, strengthening of ties, experience sharing, etc. These activities are in the form of virtual media dinners, workplace dinners, workshops in youth living environments, conferences, and "human library" cafés. |
| Association for New Canadians | Allyship in Education: Programing in support of Anti-Racism and Immigration | Newfoundland and Labrador | $50,000 | The "Allyship in Education" project will expand its project in the Newfoundland Labrador English School District. The project will create an " Allyship officer" to increase knowledge and capacity within communities to address racism and discrimination. The project includes expanding content for K-12 students, and classroom educators to build upon existing anti-racism curriculum. |
| Bangladeshi-Canadian Community Services | Collective Community Advocacy: Policies that Perpetuate Systemic Racism - Canada Child Benefit, Quebec Bill 21, and Barbaric Cultural Practices Act | Ontario | $70,000 | The Anti-Hate Community Leaders' Group creates community-based advocacy campaigns to combat systemic racism. Their focus is to create national public awareness campaigns surrounding Quebec's Bill 21, the formerly titled "Barbaric Cultural Practices Act", and the Canada Child Benefit (being contingent on immigration status). |
| BIPOC USHR | Exploring the prevalence, nature, and | Prince Edward Island | $100,000 | The purpose of this project is to explore how prevalent racism (interpersonal, institutional, and systemic) is in the sectors of healthcare, education, and housing and to explore the nature of that racism, and the psychological and social impact on the victims. |

|--------------------------------------|--|------------------|----------|--|
| | psychosocial impacts of racism in healthcare, education, and housing on Prince Edward Island: A mixed-methods research study | | | Currently PEI has no provincial data on racism. The proposed project would fill a very large knowledge gap and allow for evidence based policy changes, that could reduce systemic barriers faced by racialized peoples in healthcare, education, and housing. |
| Boca Del Lupo Theatre Society | Stop Asian Hate - Celebrating Asian Excellence in the Performing Arts in Canada | British Columbia | $40,000 | STOP ASIAN HATE is a public awareness campaign led by the performing arts sector in Canada. The public facing campaign was designed to humanize instead of marginalize and racialize Asians in Canadian communities. This project will build on its previous success and offer more resources for partner organizations to promote awareness. |
| Canadian Arab Institute | Sawti | Ontario | $31,000 | Sawti, the Arabic translation of “my voice”, will look at how anti-Arab racism manifests in Canada. The project will help define anti-Arab racism in Canada, create a coalition of organizations to combat anti-Arab racism and offer Anti-Arab racism training guides for, frontline and non-Arab organizations. Sawti will also create education tool kits on Arab identity and anti-Arab racism, host "Human Library" Pop-ups and a symposium for all stakeholders. Additionally, Sawti will host a podcast aimed at inspiring and informing Arab-Canadians and the general public, and empower victims of racial discrimination. |
| Canadian Council for Refugees | Addressing systemic racism affecting newcomers, with a focus on anti-Black racism | Quebec | $35,000 | This project will consult with refugees and the refugee and immigrant serving sector to gather information on systemic racial barriers faced by racialized newcomers. The focus is on those of African descent. The project aims to help them navigate the justice system and access public services. A focus will be on encouraging the participation of front-line workers, many of whom are themselves racialized newcomers. |

|--|---|---------|----------|---|
| Canadian Refugee Initiative | Addressing Racism towards Newcomers/Refugees in Montreal: Podcast Series | Quebec | $60,000 | This project will expand CRI's existing podcast series of "Point of Entry", which aims to explore the experiences/challenges faced by newcomers/refugees at various stages in their journey, including resettlement, as well as the inner workings of grassroots organizations. Through this series, there will be increased public awareness of systemic inequalities and discrimination towards minorities in Quebec and the promotion of intercultural/interfaith understanding and unity. |
| Central Alberta Refugee Effort (C.A.R.E.) Committee | Addressing Racism: Beyond A Campaign | Alberta | $25,000 | "Addressing Racism: Beyond a Campaign" will focus on creating a Community Change Roadmap to guide anti-racism work. The Roadmap will include a look at the current ecosystem of anti-racism education and training in the community; asset maps of the existing support services for those who experience racism, and a look at the current policy priorities in systems where racism is experienced. The Roadmap will also include recommendations for improving and developing further resources. |
| Centre Communautaire Petit Espoir | Laval, a place for all! | Quebec | $50,000 | "Laval for all!" was created with the aim to advance equality, social justice and respect for human dignity. This project will organize activities to raise awareness of different cultures, achieve common goals and foster conditions for better intercultural understanding. Planned activities include interactive workshops on themes such as intercultural communication, understanding discrimination, Islamophobia; a public awareness campaign with design and distribution of posters on hate, equity and respect for diversity, and monthly "Community Kitchens" to discover the culinary art of various cultures. The goal is to promote respect, understanding and importance of cultural diversity, while integrating of racialized communities into the economic, social and cultural fabric of Laval. |
| Centre RIRE 2000 | Collective mobilization for access to decent housing and the fight against systemic racism and social exclusion among Black refugee | Quebec | $40,000 | This project will combat the social exclusion of Black refugee families living in Quebec City, and the systemic racism in housing (both private and community social housing). The project will create three resource guides to support refugee families in Quebec City, organize a symposium on housing and fighting exclusion, and advocate for change. |

| | | | | |

| | families in Quebec City. | | | |
| Chilliwack Community Services | Chilliwack Art Mural | British Columbia | $70,000 | This project will create an artistic anti-racism mural in the downtown core of Chilliwack. The design, concepts and elements of the mural itself, will be developed out of four conversation circles held within the community from racial minority groups. Some of the outcomes of this project include increasing public awareness of British Columbia's cultural diversity, telling the visible story of lived experiences of racial minority groups, and direct economic support of Indigenous arts and culture, and local immigrant businesses. |
| Chinese Canadian National Council Toronto Chapter (Charitable trustee partner: Ontario Council of Agencies Serving Immigrants) | Asian Community Capacity Building: Anti-Asian Racism & Racial solidarity | Ontario | $50,000 | This project will be rolled out in Asian Canadian communities (i.e. Chinese, Filipino and Tamil communities) to increase knowledge on anti-Asian racism and racial solidarity. It will increase community capacity to engage in intra-community and intercultural dialogues on racial justice and therefore allow marginalized community members to fully participate in the societal discussion around racial justice. |
| Chokecherry Studios Incorporated | Wâpahki | Saskatoon | $70,000 | This youth-led initiative seeks to raise awareness regarding the racism Indigenous and People of Colour face in our systems/institutions. The project will spread deeper understanding of the roles and responsibilities of allies. It will have aspects of Education, Awareness, and Mobilization through anti-racist/anti-oppression training, youth created informational materials and social media campaigns, as well as public events in solidarity with Residential School, families of MMIWGT2S, and Indigenous communities across Canada. |
| Coalition of Muslim Women of KW | Together We Rise | Ontario | $70,000 | "Together We Rise" will scale up our current programs and add new services based on identified community needs. The focus will be on Waterloo Region's Black, Sikh, Hindu, Asian, and Jewish communities; GTA, Hamilton, London, and Guelph-based Muslim organizations, and organizations across Canada leading community-based hate reporting services . |

|---|--|---------|-----------|---|
| Community Family Services of Ontario | Capacity Building of Awareness for Neuro & Racial Diversity | Ontario | $50,000 | Through disseminating research and lived stories through a trauma-informed lens, the project will focus on providing public education, raising awareness, and building the systemic capacity to address racism and hate towards Canadian East Asian communities. The focus will be in the Greater Toronto Area and will include culturally and linguistically relevant activities. The project will create an advisory group, provide educational workshops, and implement a public awareness campaign through social media. |
| Corporation of City of Pickering | Rebels and Prisoners: Pickering's Black History | Ontario | $50,000 | This project will develop a permanent exhibit to tell the story of Pickering's Black History in the 1830's. The exhibit will feature information about the Rebellion of 1837 and will be showcased in a contemporary community gallery space. It will also incorporate contemporary interpretations of Black history and culture. New education programs, public programs, events, self guided experiences, and hands on experiences will be developed along with the exhibit. |
| Council for the Advancement of African Canadians in Alberta | Ujima Fellowship Program | Alberta | $62,000 | The Ujima Fellowship Program is a leadership development program that aims to address structural racism and inequity. The program creates opportunities for diverse representation within advisory or decision-making entities, specifically agencies, boards, commissions, and committees (ABCC). The program consists of two main activities: a leadership development fellowship and hosting skill building and anti-racism workshops. The fellowship component aims to support Black youth who demonstrate the willingness to develop their leadership skills and want to serve on advisory or policy-making platforms through a 10-month program in collaboration with the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology (NAIT) and various community partners. |
| Diversecities Community Service Association (formerly Calgary Chinese Community Service Association) | Community Mobilization to Address Anti-Asian Racism – From Grassroots to Coalition | Alberta | $125,000 | This project seeks to elevate anti-Asian racism efforts at both the grassroots to national coordination levels by developing targeted outreach strategies, delivering workshops and social media campaigns, coordinating public policy discourse, coordinating youth-led anti-hate and anti-Asian initiatives, and developing a case study and framework to identify gaps and opportunities. Participating communities will become more aware, empowered, and equipped to respond to and address anti-Asian discrimination and hate at the individual, community, and system change levels. |

|--|---|---------------|----------|---|
| Equitas - International Centre For Human Rights Education | Youth Rise Up Against Racial Injustice | Quebec | $60,000 | During 2022-2023, 25 BIPOC* young people, newcomers and refugees, will identify racism happening in their community and then mobilize to engage decision makers, community to build a more inclusive Toronto. We will apply an intersectional lens and gender-based analysis plus (GBA+) in project activities recognizing the diverse experiences that participants face. |
| Fondation Communautaire de la Péninsule acadienne inc. | Faisons tomber les masques sur le racisme : une série de dialogues sans censure ni critique | New Brunswick | $50,000 | The project will offer a series of virtual dialogues over a 2-year period to create a safe and more intimate space for members of marginalized communities to share their lived experiences. It will allow participants to share their vision of how they want to see change with a sympathetic audience and experts in the field. It will explore the intersection of French and racialization and identify the barriers to change. |
| FoodShare Toronto | Putting Race on the Table: Advancing Racial Justice in the Community Food Sector | Ontario | $80,000 | This project develops employer focused anti-racism trainings that are specific for organizations working in the community food sector. It also offers a broader public education on how effective anti-racism work requires shifting HR policies to include pay transparency, pay equity, and better hiring practices. Participants will include non-profits and charities working in the community food space such as food banks, food pantries, food security organizations, urban farms, food literacy programs, and food justice organizations. |
| Friends of Simon Wiesenthal Center for Holocaust Studies | Hate in the Time of COVID: A Study | Ontario | $50,000 | Hate in the Time of COVID: A Study is a new FSWC research initiative that will generate important findings relating to the nature of hate and intercommunity race relations in Canada during the COVID-19 pandemic. Through polling and data collection, FSWC will conduct empirical research on the experiences of a diverse cross-section of Canadians in the effort to help quantify the rise in racism and other forms of hate noted by many experts over the past two years. This data will be integrated into student-oriented programming, primarily in workshops addressing historical and contemporary forms of racism in Canada, Digital and Media Literacy. Data collected and |

| Isaksimagit Inuusirmi Katujjiqatigiit Embrace Life Council (IIKELC) | KindMind - Isumaqattiarniq App | Nunavut | $80,000 | The Embrace Life Council and the Pinnguaq Association are collaborating to develop a digital wellness service, called "KindMind - Isumaqattiarniq": a mobile application centred around resilience research and mindfulness interventions, featuring culturally curated tools for healing and resilience. It will be informed by community and family-wellness experts from the Embrace Life Council staff and will promote healing and resilience from the impacts of colonial violence and intergenerational trauma in Inuit communities. In addition, the KindMind app can be used on or offline to improve accessibility in remote areas where access to reliable or digital tools may be minimal. |
| Islamic Relief – IR Canada | Muslims at the Margins: Islamophobia & Employment | Ontario | $30,000 | This is a national project that explores the intersection of race, religion, class and gender to understand how Muslims in Canada experience Islamophobia in their respective fields of employment. Through surveying and interviewing key stakeholders such as both employed and unemployed Muslim Canadians and those in HR roles, an innovative educational tool and manual that will offer guidelines for diversity training in workplaces will be developed. |
| Jewish Senior Citizen's Centre | Overcoming Our Biases: Colour, Race, Religion Through Intercultural Dialog | Quebec | $30,000 | This project seeks to build solidarity between different Edmonton ethno-cultural communities by creating a space where they can share experiences of discrimination and, through intercultural dialogue, develop best practices to respond to discrimination. This will take place in the form of roundtables, community gatherings and talking circles for cultural exchange, cultural celebrations, and a research think tank. |

|---|---|------------------|----------|---|
| John Humphrey Centre for Peace and Human Rights | Making Strides: Addressing Systemic Racism and Intersecting Discrimination through Collaborative Advocacy | Alberta | $62,000 | This project will strengthen a network of agencies that can process systemic racism cases through federal and international mechanisms. Participants include partner organizations representing Indigenous people, Black Muslim communities, and other marginalized people; those who bring systemic racism cases forward; other stakeholders. |
| Liberation 75 Inc. | National Holocaust Monument IWalk | Ontario | $50,000 | This project features launching of the IWalk App at Ottawa's National Holocaust Monument. This bilingual app will offer an innovative and educational experience to Monument visitors and App users. The App will feature an interactive virtual tour of the Monument, lessons on the antisemitic and discriminatory conditions which led to and existed during the Holocaust, and information on historical and contemporary antisemitism – making information about the Monument easily accessible. This project is also in partnership with CHES and the USC Shoah Foundation. |
| M2/W2 Association - Restorative Christian Ministries | No One Leaves Alone (NOLA) | British Columbia | $50,000 | The NOLA program provides support and accountability through a circle-based model. It offers a 12-month support program for moderate to high-risk parolees in the community. Practical support, friendship, and accountability to assist with safe, crime-free reintegration into society will be given to the clientele, 80% of which will be from the Black, Indigenous and Person of Color community. |
| MakeWay Foundation | Working equitably with Indigenous youth in the NWT(WIN) | British Columbia | $50,000 | This project will be a series of workshops for service providers new to the North West Territories on how to equitably interact with Indigenous northern youth in the community. The workshops will be co-developed and co-delivered by northern Indigenous youth who have first-hand experience with overt and unconscious racism. |
| Metis Nation of Canada | Walking the Journey: Celebrating cultural diversity and Inclusion in the classroom | Ontario | $60,000 | The goal of this project is to promote social equity and the development of positive psychology classrooms by educating teachers about negative stereotypes of Indigenous people. The program include evidence-based strategies to create inclusive schools and reduce the impact of negative stereotypes on academic adjustment and success. The workshops will be available in both French and English. Participant teachers will leave with an in-depth understanding of the impact of stereotypes on classroom dynamics. They will have a good understanding of how stereotypes impacted how Settlers perceived |

| | | | | |
|---|--|----------|-----------|--|
| | | | | Indigenous people and themselves. With this new knowledge and understanding, teachers will be equipped to reduce the impact of stereotypes in their classrooms. |
| Oasis Centre des femmes Inc. | Youth in Action, Pride Regained | Ontario | $50,000 | Divided into two phases, this project will identify issues, challenges, and solutions to combat the discrimination, racism and prejudices confronting Ontario's young Black Francophones and develop of leadership and mentoring workshops. This will be done through survey data, focus groups, and a symposium. This project will give-Black Francophones a platform to express themselves, engage in issues affecting their communities, propose solutions, increase their sense of leadership, and develop and strengthen cultural pride and belonging through mentorship. |
| Ojibway and Cree Cultural Centre | Local Indigenous Cross-Cultural Competency Training | Ontario | $116,415 | This project will develop a localized Indigenous Cross-Cultural Competency Training program and the subsequent delivery of training workshops to key service providers and community organizations in Timmins, Ontario. Some outcomes include increased knowledge and understanding of the history of Indigenous peoples in the region, increased organizational capacity to address racism through opportunities for education and cross-cultural dialogue, and decreased incidences of racism and discrimination experienced by Indigenous peoples in Timmins. |
| Returning to Spirit Residential School Reconciliation Inc. | The Power of Story - 1 Generation of Reconciliation for 1 Generation of Racism | Manitoba | $45,000 | Taking inspiration from the thousands of stories that have been shared through delivering of Residential School Reconciliation Workshops, the main aim of this project is to reconcile impacts from incidents of racism or childhood sexual abuse by shifting the conversation from disempowering resignation and blame to inspiration and responsibility. This project also hopes to address the deep hurts within the Canadian foster care system, and the ongoing discrimination faced by those Indigenous youth aging out or those that have left. |
| Social Planning Council of Winnipeg Incorporation | Anti-Racism in Sport Campaign | Manitoba | $90,000 | The Anti-Racism in Sport Campaign (ARISC) seeks to identify, disrupt and eliminate the racism in sport in Manitoba experienced by First Nation, Métis Nation, Inuit, Black, Racialized and religious minority community members. The campaign, originally launched in April 2021, will extend and expand across the province. Activities will include training, development of an 'anti-racism in sport accord', creation of a reporting mechanism for racist incidents, public awareness campaign, and development of a youth anti-racism in sport advisory committee. |

|---|---|-------------|----------|--|
| Stardale Women's Group Inc | Stardale Sharing Circle | Alberta | $58,510 | Shadows in Time, our second film premiered November of last year and has also found accolades with the audiences, is featured in the up and coming Edmonton International Festival of Winter Cinema. Many of the 35 girls in the film will be participating in the interviews, and Q and A sessions. The girls are from both urban and reserve backgrounds. From a community perspective, we intend to reach all national audiences from all communities with interest in learning more about Indigenous culture, history and contemporary life of youth. Specifically, we will target organizations such as corporate entities, other non-profits, and institutions such as the Police department and school systems. |
| Sustainable Thinking and Expression on Public Space (STEPS) Initiative | CreateSpace: Anti-Racist Public Art Programming for Community Capacity Building | Ontario | $50,000 | CreateSpace will build the capacity and amplify the work of a national roster of BIPOC artists and their communities. Through a series of public programs, participating artists, facilitators and mentors, it will develop socially engaged public art and facilitate public programming designed to: increase public awareness of policy issues related to race relations, anti-racism, or anti-hate; increase public awareness of Canada's cultural diversity/ economic and societal barriers to full participation, and increase capacity within communities to address racism and discrimination. |
| Tawheed Community Centre (operates under legal name Salaheddin Islamic Centre Inc) | Islamophic-Motivated Incident Reporting Tool (IMIRT) | Ontario | $70,000 | This project will develop a mobile app that will allow users to report incidents of islamophobia and learn next steps. It will be compatible with both Apple and Android mobile devices. The project will include more realistic data on Islamophobic hate crimes and incidents in Canada. The application will also give accessible advice to those using it. We also expect this data to help inform policies regarding Islamophobia. |
| The Association of Black Social Workers | Because We Matter - Africentric and Anti-Black Racism Educational Series | Nova Scotia | $70,000 | ABSW will develop a series of Africentric workshops for front line staff, board, and management in organizations. In addition, it will develop race specific healing sessions for staff of African Descent. All workshops will be tailored to meet the specific needs of the agency or group requesting the service. The education sessions will be organized around three core principles: awareness, analysis and action, which is known as the Triple A Paradigm. Communities would include central, western, eastern and northern zones of Nova Scotia and would approximately reach 500+ employees, from front line staff, board members and management. |

| | | | | |
|---|---|------------------|----------|--|
| The Concerned Kids Charity of Toronto | Anti-Racism Puppety Project | Ontario | $25,000 | Using a storytelling approach through puppetry, this project consists of developing short plays and stories to be performed in schools for children. The stories will explore diversity, race, culture and inclusion, and highlight the 5 principles of respect, empathy, allyship, confidence, and humility (REACH) to fight racism. Supplementary booklets for classrooms will also be developed. |
| The Mosaic Institute for Harnessing Diversity | Breaking Down Barriers: Understanding and Addressing Racism in Canada | Ontario | $65,000 | This project is a professional development course for youth aged 18-29 and young professionals aged 30-45 to increase their knowledge and capacity to address racism and discrimination in their everyday lives. This project will include creating a free online course consisting of modules and community spotlights, recruiting of at least 500 individuals from across Northern, Eastern, Western, and Central Canada. The focus is on small/rural populations and providing skills-based training on how to identify and address racism and evaluating the increased capacity to fight racism and discrimination. |
| The Neighbourhood Group Community Services c/o Black Women In Motion | Black Survivors to the Front | Ontario | $55,000 | The “Black Survivors to the Front” project, is a research and capacity-building initiative with a short-term, long-term and ongoing objective, to reduce anti-Black racism in policies and practices within service organizations providing care to Black survivors of gender-based violence. The project uses a two-pronged approach of research and education to confront and challenge the pervasiveness of anti-black racism within community agencies serving Black survivors of gender-based violence. The project will involve collecting provincial-wide, race-based, disaggregated data, documenting gender-based violence within Black communities, engaging 200 Black women, girls, nonbinary, two-spirit, gender nonconforming and gender diverse peoples in Ontario, specifically the Toronto and Greater Toronto Areas (Durham, Peel, Halton, York) to create the “Survivor’s Report”. |
| The North Shore Restorative Justice Society | Youth Justice Lab Series | British Columbia | $40,000 | The need for this project stems from youth social support when facing social isolation and increasing experiences of racism and discrimination throughout the COVID-19 pandemic. Through a speaker series, co-creation of group projects, and peer mediator training, youth participants will hopefully recognize their capacity for social change and gain confidence in being an actor of change within their communities. They will also be able to restoratively address and navigate conflicts in schools and in their communities, including incidents of racism. |
| Vancouver Holocaust Centre Society for | Dimensions in Testimony | British Columbia | $75,000 | This project will consist of beta-testing a 3D interactive testimony from a Vancouver-based Holocaust survivor and bringing a diverse group of youth together with Holocaust survivors as the co-writers of films. This outreach project will foster new skills in |

| | | | | |
|--|---|------------------|----------|---|
| Education and Remembrance | | | | filmmaking and storytelling, and enhanced understanding of Holocaust survivor accounts, as well as be integrated into Shoah Foundation's educational platform, iWitness, supporting virtual field trips and reaching thousands of students internationally. |
| VIDEA- A BC based International Development Education Association | Bonds of Solidarity: Black Youth Confronting Online Hate and Digital Literacy | British Columbia | $50,000 | This project builds upon VIDEA's previous project, Digital Smudge which engaged 7 Indigenous youth leaders who reached 170 Indigenous youth through workshop facilitation, and 5,000 diverse Canadians through social media engagement. Bonds of Solidarity will engage 5 Black youth leaders in an anti-racism project focused on addressing online hate, by building radically-safe spaces aimed at healing, building supportive networks, and promoting digital literacy for themselves and 100 Black youth they recruit from their communities, networks, and schools to participate in digital engagement and online workshops. |
| Vues d'Afrique | Actions-Inclusion Printemps 2022 | Quebec | $25,000 | This project will consist of 4 activities alongside the 38th Vues d'Afrique International Film Festival. These activities will consist of screenings of Canadian and international films around African and Creole cultures and their local diasporas for elementary and secondary school students; training on audiovisual production professions for emerging professionals from the African and Creole communities; art exhibitions on anti-racism and Islamophobia; and a master class given by an artistic personality from the African or Creole community on the representation of Black people in higher positions in the Canadian audiovisual landscape and solutions to reduce barriers to inclusion. |
| Wolastoqey Nation in New Brunswick | End Systemic Racism – Public Awareness Campaign | New Brunswick | $50,000 | The promotional campaign will inform people and communities, and inspire leaders to bring forward positive change. A website will be created to house promotional content and detailed information about the campaign to end systemic racism in New Brunswick. Resource materials, including a refreshed "Ally Toolkit", will be developed and the campaign will use direct mail to reach potential supporters in their communities. In addition, we envision another outcome of this campaign being widespread public awareness of several tangible examples of systemic racism within public systems in New Brunswick. We will empower Wolastoqey Nation members and allies with the content and knowledge needed to speak up and call for positive change. |
| Women Transforming Cities International Society | Truth & Reconciliation in Local Governments: Progress, | British Columbia | $50,000 | Divided into 3 phases, this project will first track local government's progress on implementing the Truth and Reconciliation Commission Calls to Action. It will identify common barriers to actioning the calls through research and surveys, increase public awareness of local government's role in implementing the CTA ,and equip elected leaders by distributing the research report/amplifying results. The project will engage with |

| | | | | |
|---|-------------------------------|---------|----------|---|
| | Barriers and Tools for Action | | | municipal and Indigenous partners to identify high-opportunity CTA to create focused educational resources on (ie. Workshops). |
| Yellowhead Indigenous Education Foundation | Exploring Wahkohtowin | Alberta | $40,000 | The game will serve as a platform for fostering learning about Indigenous communities and building relationships to non-Indigenous learners throughout the amiskwaciywaskahikan area, Treaty 6 Territory, and eventually to other Treaty Territories. Discussions and planning are currently in process with respect to distribution to Indigenous and non-Indigenous audiences (schools, businesses, non-profits, etc.) within the amiskwaciywaskahikan area and, eventually throughout Treaty 6, 7, and 8. This project will have a long-term impact because it aims to raise awareness and educate non-indigenous youth and adults in educational and community settings, with the goal of sparking conversation and action for people to take responsibility for further improving their relationships through meaningful action. |
| Youth Empowering Parents | Anti-Racism School Clubs | Ontario | $40,000 | The project seeks to address systemic racism in education by having students develop school-based solutions through the creation of anti-racism school clubs. Working with five Toronto school partners, the project will pilot Anti-Racism Clubs. The project will also engage and build partnerships outside of Toronto, develop an Anti-Racism Club best practices toolkit. |
